

10 Most Promising SharePoint Solution Providers - 2017

Regardless of industry, every organization endeavours for achieving increased productivity and better competitiveness. Undoubtedly, Microsoft SharePoint is regarded as one of the most significant as well as widespread enterprise productivity tools. In today's technology landscape, it attains a remarkable position by empowering customers to share and manage content, knowledge and applications to create a more connected workplace, and witnesses accelerated rates of deployment across enterprises' business realms.

Currently, SharePoint is an industry leading platform which has been optimized by enterprises of all sizes. With key features such as Intranet Portals, Document & File Management, Social Networks and Extranets etc., this collaboration and document management platform enables enterprises to accomplish increased productivity, improved employee collaboration and communication, and minimized risk associated with IT. In such a context, enterprises require reinforcement from reliable partners to adopt SharePoint into their enterprise business ambience.

Furthermore, many IT vendors play crucial role with SharePoint services to deliver enhanced efficiency and better workforce, in addition to great competitive advantage. However, as many players come to the fore with various SharePoint services, spotting an apt partner becomes a challenging task to the organizations. Apprehending this difficulty, CIOReview brings out a list of "10 Most Promising SharePoint Solution Providers", to reinforce C-Level executives for identifying best of breed partners. A distinguished panel comprising of CEOs, CIOs, industry analysts and CIOReview editorial team have scrutinized various companies before finalizing these vendors who succour their enterprise clients to boost productivity, ameliorate collaboration and reduce risk in the digital era.

Company:
Q3 Technologies

Description:

A provider of SharePoint services that encompass Migration Planning and Implementation, SharePoint on Office 365, Usability Planning and User Interface Design, Internal and External Portals, Business Rules and Workflows, Content Management, Governance Development and Training etc.

Key Person:

Anuj Mathur,
CEO

Website:

q3tech.com

Q3 Technologies:

Driving Enterprise Digital Transformation through SharePoint Services

Digital technologies have imperative role in revamping enterprise business realm, that aid to improve efficiency, empower workforce and accomplish great competitive advantage. In the digital era, Microsoft SharePoint enables organizations to improve employee communication and collaboration, drive greater employee engagement, and make better decisions with real-time data. However, adopting SharePoint into the enterprise ambience, today's organizations look out for reliable partners who have strong technical capabilities and experience, industry knowledge and fast responsiveness. This is where Massachusetts headquartered Q3 Technologies, Inc. with India offices in Gurgaon, Jaipur and Mumbai comes with SharePoint services for reinforcing its clients to become more digital, disruptive, innovative and to remain competitive. It bolsters SharePoint as an ideal platform for organizations to develop global workforce collaboration. Being a leading player in Microsoft Solutions, the company has attained capabilities to bring out end-to-end as well as scalable Microsoft Solutions to meet clients' objectives and expectations.

Certainly, the partnership with Microsoft enables Q3 to optimize Microsoft's leading ERP, CRM and Collaboration tools for delivering both flexible and innovative solutions with high quality to its clients. When it comes to Microsoft SharePoint Services portfolio, Q3 offers complete range of business consulting and enablement of enterprise collaboration and content. Its service portfolio encompasses Migration planning and Implementation, SharePoint on Office 365, Usability planning and User interface design, Internal and external portals, Business rules and workflows, Content management, Change and program management, Legacy application assessment, Governance development and training. According to Anuj Mathur, CEO of Q3 Technologies, Inc., "We are specialized in organization wide and complex SharePoint deployments. We are expert in both Microsoft technologies and many modern and legacy applications that integrate with SharePoint. Q3's expertise helps you address intranet development, internet web publishing and enterprise portals."

Anuj Mathur,
CEO

In order to create great SharePoint Infrastructure, Q3 has been working with many clients in India and across the world. "Our combined team of Business Analysts, Solutions Architects and SharePoint Technical team create sites to share documents and information with colleagues, partners, and customers. In addition, we create functionalities such as Enterprise Content Management, Business Intelligence, Enterprise Search, Personal Sites and Newsfeed", affirms Anuj Mathur. Following a future focused approach, Q3's team of Business Analysts and Solutions Architects designs solutions with all the functionality desired and delivers most efficient technical design to ensure speed, security and future scalability.

Q3's expertise helps you address intranet development, internet web publishing and enterprise portals

With simple as well as direct engagement style with customers, Q3 has acquired years of experience in developing and maintaining SharePoint solutions. In future, it anticipates that SharePoint applications would boast of its features such as modern user experiences, enhanced collaboration, new customization options and enriched compliance. "With expertise and hard work, Q3 aims to be a leading provider of SharePoint based applications for the Fortune 1000 Companies in the next five years. We will continue our partnership with Microsoft to improve customer experiences on Collaborative Management in the future as well," winds up Anuj Mathur. CR